CHOIR TO TOUR ENGLAND

PRESIDENT'S CORNER

1974 AND ON

As 1974 begins, assessing what the new year will bring is even more conjectural than usual. With inflation, energy crises, scarcities, and other local, national, and world problems, to chart an institutional course of action for even a short period of time necessitates formulating many options.

In a time of such rapid change, any institution purporting to give its students realistic experiences in living must continually revise its program. At Lycoming short and long-range planning are being pursued concurrently. Students, faculty, administrators, and trustees (including alumni) are working together on committees to assemble information and formulate suggestions for the College's operation. Changes are being proposed both for immediate and future implementation.

An important ingredient to such planning is "outside" information -- opinions, facts, ideas, and questions from the College's off-campus constituencies. A vast majority of LYCOMING readers are alumni and friends of the College engaged in the multitude of activities that make-up daily living. Your comments about Lycoming can be of great value to those of us on-campus as we plan to keep our college a viable, contributing institution in the future.

Let me most sincerely urge anyone concerned about Lycoming (and education) to write or call me, the deans, other administrators, or faculty members. Give us the benefit of your comments and the opportunity to consider your ideas. The more response we can have on Lycoming's impact the better we will be able to serve in the future.

HAROLD H. HUNTON
President of the College

THE 1973 FEZ BOWL NETTED $6,000 for two Shrine hospitals according to H. Llewellyn Probst, treasurer. Four Fez Bowl games sponsored by the Williamsport Shrine Club have raised $20,000 divided between the Philadelphia Unit for Crippled Children and the Boston Burns Institute.

DUTCH HILL NEIGHBORS AID CHOIR - The Parish Activities Association of St. Boniface Catholic Church recently sponsored a benefit concert by the Lycoming Choir in the Catholic Community Center which added $1,000 to the choir's May 1974 European Tour Fund. James F. Staib (center) chairman of the drive and a member of both the association and the choir, is shown presenting a check to Prof. Walter C. McIver, choir director. At left is Mrs. Alfred Grieco, co-chairman of the event, whose committee enlisted one hundred eighteen neighborhood and community patrons of the concert. At right is Miss Linda Bloem, choir treasurer, and James Beck, president of the parish association. St. Boniface sponsored the concert, "In appreciation for all that members of the College have done for St. Boniface since the fire which destroyed our church building last December and as a token of our friendship as neighbors over the years."

CHOIR GRATIFIED BY RESPONSE TO FUND-RAISING PROJECTS FOR ENGLAND IN MAY TOUR

By Kenneth W. Barber '74

The hard-working and hard-practicing members of the 1973-74 Lycoming College Choir are deeply gratified by the enthusiastic support so many people are giving to the fund-raising efforts being made to finance the England In May Tour planned by the choir. The "work" has involved numerous projects which have raised over $11,000 by December 19th. The "practicing" has included many concerts.

Every weekend this semester the choir has had at least one opportunity to sing. The spring semester is being booked with few weekends remaining without at least one concert. Many of these concerts are in local churches where a presentation of our England '74 plans elicits many individual gifts along with honoraria from the churches.

Second Row - Dianne B. Raymond '75, Virginia A. Haller '76, Mary Ethel Schmir '76, Andrea D. Seuren '76, Alice L. Fiske '74, Patricia M. Zimmer '75, Cynthia E. Broadman '74, Alice L. Pedersen '75, Katharine R. Sudekum '74, Diane L. Morgan '75, and Patrice A. Lovekin '75.

LYCOMING CHOIR TO TOUR IRELAND AND ENGLAND DURING MAY TERM

An eighteen-concert tour of Ireland and England by the Lycoming College Choir has been arranged for May 1974. Arrangements for the tour were begun in August during a campus visit of Dr. A. Stanley Leyland, an executive of the World Council of Methodism and chairman of the exchange program for the British Council of Churches and the World Council of Churches. Dr. Leyland is serving as co-ordinator of the British Isles tour.

The choir will leave New York City by air on May 6, 1974 for Shannon Airport, Ireland. The first concert will be given on May 7th in Folkestone, Kent, England. An itinerary of daily concerts will be performed in various towns in the Midlands and then Southern England. Final concerts will be given in Cork and Dublin.

The May Tour will be the first Lycoming Choir concert on foreign soil since 1957 when the group presented twenty-four concerts in twenty-two days in Great Britain. Concerts will be given in some of the same churches and concert halls in which the 1957 group sang. Many more requests for appearances than dates available for concerts have been received.

A forty-member choir (see photo below) has been chosen and is busy practicing and raising money towards a $25,000 goal to cover expenses.

Third Row - Christopher S. Lewis '75, Kim R. Bissonette '76, Russell A. Reisdinger, Jr. '76, James E. Kurtzke '77, Anthony E. Latagliata '74, Kenneth W. Birber '74, Henry G. Kneer, Jr. '77, Jeffrey H. Patton '76, and Richard I. Dill '75.

Fourth Row - Jay E. Zimmerman '74, David B. Bernard '75, James F. Staib '74, Rodney D. Templeton '74, Richard A. Caldwell '75, Stephen N. Hulslander '74, Robert W. Beutenbach '74, Jan B. McDonald '74, David C. Coyle '74, and John C. Shorb '76.

Absent - Craig S. Weaver '77.

A major assist came from our neighbors here on the hill at St. Boniface parish. The Parish Activities Association sponsored us in a concert at the Catholic Community Center. All of us on the choir want to thank chairman Jim Staib, in the association and the choir, his co-chairman, Mrs. Alfred Grieco of the parish, and their committee who all did such a great job. The event raised $1,001 for the fund. (Ed. - See photo)

A STUDENT EMERGENCY LOAN FUND, established by the Women of Lyscoming College (formerly the Faculty Wives of Lyscoming College) is discussed by Mrs. Carolee Grillo, president of the WLC, and Jack C. Buckle, dean of student services. The $700 to establish the loan fund was raised through such projects as the sale of stationery and nammage.

At a joint meeting of the Williamsport Kiwanis and Rotary our singing not only resulted in $100 checks from each club but in numerous contributions of $10 to $50 which have been coming in the mail from individual members. The Loyalsock Lions and Rotary are trying to arrange a similar joint meeting in January. We also have been invited to do a Christmas concert for the Williamsport Senior Citizens Club.

A copy of the Friendship Bonds being sold by the choir appears in this issue. One purpose of the England '74 Tour is to convey the friendship and goodwill of as many Americans to as many British as possible. Donors to the fund will receive a bond and have their names included in the England '74 booklet which will be exhibited on the tour.

Approximately $300 has been raised waxing cars of administrators, faculty members, and staff at $15 to $25 a car depending on size. Over $500 was raised when we sold 1,082 hoagies door to door. About $240 was made with two Saturday car washes in October.

One bake sale has resulted in over $100. Students brought ingredients from home after Thanksgiving and used dorm kitchens for the baking. For another recent sale Mrs. Robert Yasui, wife of the college surgeon, donated almost all the ingredients and the use of her kitchen. Town people in the Chorale have brought in baked goods. One man brings a cake every other week, and a woman brought in knitted hats to sell.

On Saturday December 15th a paper drive was conducted in town. Campus offices have cleaned old files; one office contributed ten boxes. The computer center will give us about 30,000 old computer cards which will bring a premium of $1 per hundred pounds.

Crafts and candles, handmade by the choir, have been sold at concerts, church dinners, and on campus. Churches supplied old wax. Simple crafts items include: crocheted pocketbooks, Christmas ornaments made from blown-out eggs, batik, macreme, Readers Digest angels, paintings and sketches by Melisse Rougeux, and candles in the shape of angels, frogs, snails, dogs, Buddah, mushrooms, mice, little hoys and girls.

Wall hangings, made by the John Phillip Company, were sold during Homecoming and Parents' Weekend and in choir members' hometowns during Thanksgiving recess. John P. Malby '51, owner of the company, has provided the hangings virtually at cost and even paid the shipping costs. Included are 1974 calendars, Children's growth charts, humorous sayings, and such subjects as Desterata, Love is A Circle, Children Learn What They Live, and the Irish Toast.

Parents of choir members have been invited to contribute to the fund, and many have responded. Several gifts have been doubled when the donor applied to his employer for a "Matching Gift" to a charitable organization.

Choir alumni have received a special solicitation which has not been out long enough for a response at this writing. Dr. Willis W. Willard, III, a member of the 1957 choir that went to England, has sent a special letter to his fellow 1957 Choir alumni.

The wonderful response and cooperation that our many projects are eliciting is sincerely appreciated. If any reader is interested in any of the projects mentioned in this article you can contact any choir member (see choir picture elsewhere in this issue) or drop a line to or call the Publications Office.

CAMPUS NOTES

LYCOMING VS. YALE, PRINCETON?

Lyscoming competing against Princeton, Yale, and Georgetown? Well, it happened--and Lyscoming came off extremely well.

The contest was a model United Nations Security Council sponsored recently by Georgetown University in Washington. The Lyscoming College International Relations Club played the role of Guinea, a maverick West African state whose international position gave the Lyscoming participants plenty of room to maneuver.

Students attending from Lyscoming were Michael Lyon, Dick Adams, Dave Roberts, Michael Cheslosky, and Kevin Way.

Fifteen schools throughout the East Coast participated in debate on resolutions similar to regular U.N. Security Council meetings. The bills, concerning French Nuclear Testing, the Middle East, and Portuguese aggression in Africa, were drawn up by the participating colleges and submitted to the council for debate.

The Warrior delegation succeeded in sponsoring the only two resolutions passed at the conference. Dr. Michael Roskin, faculty advisor to the International Relations Club, said "the conference was national in scope and Lyscoming made an excellent showing."

ROBERT J. GLUNK, registrar and assistant to the dean, presented a paper and moderated a panel discussion on the topic "Are Registrars A Necessary Commodity in the Age of Computer Technology" at the annual meeting of the Middle States Association of Collegiate Registrars and Officers of Admission.

FLORENCE PUTTERMAN, part-time instructor in art, has a monoprint titled "Early Spring" included in The Single Impression exhibition being held at Oglethorpe University, Atlanta.

MICHAEL G. ROSKIN, assistant professor of political science, has had his book, The Other Governments of Europe, accepted for publication by Prentice-Hall.

ROGER D. SHIPLEY, assistant professor of art, will have three of his sculptures in a group show at the Taft Museum in Cincinnati, Ohio.

TERRY WILD, part-time art instructor, has had seven photographs accepted by Time-Life Books for publication in the forthcoming edition of "Photography Year 1974". Terry's portfolio was selected from over fifty entries which had been selected upon recommendation from artists and curators from throughout the world.

STANLEY T. WILK, assistant professor of anthropology, has had two articles accepted for publication. "Political Units and Political Change" will be published in Probe, the Journal of the Pennsylvania Sociological Society. "Terminal Loyalties to a Mexican Community" will be published in the Journal of the Inter-American Studies and World Affairs.

THE ANNUAL PHYSICS DAY proved that experiments can be fun as well as educational. Leslie Spengler, a senior from Towanda High School, enjoys working on a physics problem using a revolving stand and a bicycle wheel. Dr. Morton A. Fineman, chairman of the physics department on the left, Pete Kengeter '74, and the other unidentified spectators also seem to be enjoying Leslie's experiment.

Eighty-five science students and teachers from throughout Pennsylvania attended the seventh annual physics day held on December 7th. Physics majors performed experiments and several scientific films were shown. Dean James R. Jose welcomed guests at an informal meeting and faculty and staff discussed careers and entrance requirements. In the evening Dr. Richard R. Erickson, teaching fellow in physics, gave a planetarium presentation on the comet Kohotek and the Arena Theatre gave a performance of "Dark of The Moon".

ROBERT A. ZACCARIA, assistant professor of biology, had an article, "Developmental Cytology of Chromatophores in the Red-Spotted Newt", published in the September issue of the American Journal of Anatomy.

PHI ALPHA THETA, the history honorary society, recently inducted eight new members into the chapter: Janet H. Faro '75, Flemington, New Jersey; Richard B. Henninger '74, South Williamsport; Richard M. Johnston II '74, Harrisburg; Nancy E. Lambert '74, Franklin Lakes, New Jersey; Michael D. Lyon '75, Canton; Terrence J. Murphy '75, Perry, New York; Jay E. Zimmerman '74, Harrisburg, and Robert G. Zimmerman '74, Williamsport.

NECROLOGY

1912 - RUTH McMURRAY CLARK has died according to mail which was returned to us recently. She had been living in Quarryville, Pennsylvania.

1929 - Mail was returned to us marked "deceased" which had been addressed to PAUL H. STOCKER in Pittsburgh.

1941 - JOSEPH J. FREEMAN died January 30, 1972, according to mail which was returned to us recently from Ligonier, Pennsylvania.

1953 - JOHN H. MOORE of Lock Haven died November 14, 1973.

ALL STAR RECOGNITION from Middle Atlantic Conference coaches has been voted for three seniors: STEVE WISER, linebacker; WAYNE GOODROW, middle-guard, and DAVE FRANKLIN, offensive tackle. Honorable mention went to sophomore JIM RICH, the Northern Division's leading pass receiver; junior defensive back TOM VANASKIE, and junior place kicker PORFIRIO GONCALVES. Porfirio, on the 1972 MAC first team, was edged out by Susquehanna's Chuck Smeltz.

Steve led the team in tackles for the third consecutive year with eighty-six solo and fifty-four assists. He also recovered two opponent fumbles, intercepted two passes, and blocked two punts.

Wayne, among the leaders in tackles, had fifty-six and recovered two fumbles. Dave was the mainstay of the offensive unit with fine blocking.

A Lycoming receiving record was set with Rich's 363 yards on twenty-five receptions, surpassing the 362 yards by Dick Lewis in 1966. He caught four touchdowns and led the downfield blocking.

Tom led the defensive secondary whose effective pass defense led the opposition to an average 6.6 completions and sixty-nine yards in seven conference games. Porfirio made four out of seven field goals; two misses were on a rain-soaked field more than fifty yards out.

A $1,100 SEARS FOUNDATION GRANT is discussed by John R. Fahnestock (left) manager of the Williamsport Sears Roebuck store and President Harold H. Hutson on the porch of Long Hall. Lycoming is one of eighty-seven private colleges in Pennsylvania which shares $121,700 in Sears grants this year. Nationwide the foundation will distribute $1,650,000 among 950 colleges during 1973.

D. CHESTER RYAN BAND LIBRARY RECEIVED BY COLLEGE - OVER 900 SETS

Promoting the institution and polishing the musical skills of students are usually regarded as the primary benefits of the annual concert tour by the Lycoming College Concert Band. But sometimes the tour reaps additional dividends.

Last spring the band presented a concert in Syracuse, New York. One of those unexpected dividends appeared because Frank C. Ryan, of North Syracuse, was in the audience. He was so impressed by the performance of the Lycoming musicians that he offered to contribute a concert band library of more than 900 sets of performance parts to the college.

The collection had been gathered by Mr. Ryan's deceased brother, D. Chester Ryan, during a period of forty years from 1920 to 1960. The late Mr. Ryan began the collection in 1920 when he was retained by the city of Detroit, Michigan to organize a band program in its secondary schools. Throughout his career he was an ardent bandsman working with school and civic bands.

The compositions represent a wide range, including overtures, symphonies, rhapsodies, suites, and marches. The individual sets of parts are in excellent condition, and the library has already been indexed. It was appraised at $5,000 in 1960 by an expert engaged by Mr. Ryan to determine its worth.

Dr. Glen E. Morgan, chairman of the music department and director of the band, said the collection has been placed with the Lycoming College Concert Band Library, but as a separate collection to be known as the D. Chester Ryan Band Library. Dr. Morgan said the music department will acknowledge any performance of works from the collection with an appropriate program note. He said interested persons may inspect the library by contacting him at the music department.

PRIVATE EDUCATION Needs Your Support Now.
